LT. GOV. KELLY TAKES BRIDE IN SECRET

Lieutenant - Governor Francis E. Kelly and his fiancée, Miss Marion G. McDonald of East Boston, were quietly married today with a nuptial mass at St. Peter's church in Dorchester.

Their families and very close friends attended the ceremony, and the wedding breakfast which followed at the Copley-Plaza was confined to approximately a dozen guests, two of whom were the Governor and Mrs. Hurley.

The couple had filed marriage intentions in Boston City Hall before midnight last night and had made special requests of Hilda A. Quinn to keep their move a secret.

OBTAIN WAIVER

Then they secured a waiver of the speedy law from Judge Francis J. Goddard of the municipal court.

The Right Reverend Monsignor Richard J. Mahoney, pastor of St. Peter's and vicar-general of the Archdiocese of Boston, officiated at the wedding, which was at 11 o'clock this morning.

The bride was attended by a sister, Mrs. Martin Cashman, of Adams street, Dorchester. The best man was the lieutenant-governor's brother, Joseph.

Attaches at the Copley-Plaza declined to carry any message to the bride party during the breakfast, reading that they had been instructed not to disturb occupants of State 22-225—the bridal room.

HONEYMOON IN SOUTH

It was learned, however, that the lieutenant-governor and the new second lady of the commonwealth are planning a honeymoon in the South.

Steal March on Friends

The New Second Lady of the Commonwealth, Miss Marion G. McDonald of East Boston, was the fiancée of Lieutenant-governor Francis E. REBELS DOOM 5000 TO DIE IN MALAGA

BULLETIN

Paris, Feb. 9 (INS)—The Paris newspaper, L'Intransigent, in a dispatch from Avila, Spain, stated today that the rebel forces, had succeeded in virtually cutting off Madrid from the outside world.

Malaga, Spain, Feb. 9 (INS)—The conquest of Malaga was hailed as the most important victory of the civil war, for it deprived the loyalists of their most important southern seaport, gave the rebels another gateway for the importation of foreign reinforcements, and shortly after the push against Almeria, will leave Gen. de Lano's mighty host for a flank attack on Madrid.

Malaga was a scene of incendiarism, plundering and murder when the rebel vanguard arrived. The whole central part of the city was in flames.

SENATE, HOUSE SEEK COURT PLAN CHANGE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, Feb. 9—President Roosevelt's proposal for increasing the Supreme Court appeared today for lengthy debate in Congress as proposals for modifying it swept through House and Senate.

The House Judiciary committee, ignoring the Supreme Court phase of the President's message, meanwhile favorably reported a bill, carrying out two of his minor recommendations for reform of the federal judiciary.

The measure would authorize the attorney-general to intervene in any case involving constitutional questions of a federal law, and also provide a direct government appeal to the

SIX HIGHER-UPS OUT IN HOSPITAL PROBE

HOSPITAL PROBE HIGHLIGHTS

Six more higher-ups, including the assistant superintendent, resign their posts at Mattapan.

Governor Hurley declares the trustees have outlived their usefulness and must go.

Boston Evening American reveals exclusive details of last night's meeting at State House.

View of six legislators to the Mattapan hospital today hints at legislative investigation.

Views of hospital conditions as seen by Dr. Abraham Myerson, psychiatrist, given to Boston Evening American.

Resignations of the entire board of trustees of Boston State Hospital at Mattapan will be requested by Governor Hurley, he declared today at a Cambridge luncheon.

"I will request the resignation of the entire board of trustees, who have outlived their usefulness," said the governor at the luncheon in Edmund G. Reardon, who will be 100 years old next Sunday.

Governor Hurley's declaration came only a few hours after six more higher-ups at the hospital, including Dr. Charles Houser, assistant superintendent, had resigned.

For more than a week the trustees have been under fire of the new hospital superintendent, Dr. Harold F. Norton, and today it had reported that the board would resign voluntarily.

With today's new resignations, it was revealed that one employee who gave up her job, Mary Martini, head housekeeper, is an alien, hired less than a year and a half ago.

In that time, however, her salary has been increased from $480 to $1100 a year, according to information given out by state authorities.

In addition to Assistant Superintendent Houser and Housekeeper Martini, today's resignations were Dr. Fred Le Grew, staff physician; Florence Armstrong, director of social service; Linda F. Graves, nurse secretary to Dr. James V. May, former superintendent; and Ellen Goshkin, head cook.

The little girl had been kept after classes for a few moments and was sliding down a railing on the stairway from the second floor when she fell.

Then the Perry girl arrived at City Hospital, she was pronounced dead.

AS I SEE IT

By DAMON RUSYON

New York City was recently trying to dig up a new song for itself.

Nothing came of the matter, which we think is just as well. The sponsors of the idea would have had a tough time uprooting the current civil anthem of the big town from the hearts of New Yorkers.

This annual song is "The Sidewalks of New York," originally a widely popular song, then for many years largely Damon Rusyon's. Just a local hit, that was, but in the ears of the nation in the time of Al Smith and his mustard-colored scone piece.

There are those who argue that the song no longer fits New York. They say that the lyrics are now too "corny," or old-timey, and in no sense reflects the city, all of which may be true.

And maybe if Al Smith hadn't come along. "The Sidewalks" would have remained buried more or less in the local past to be resurrected only at intervals, when very old-time New Yorkers got together at breakfasts and other convivial reunions.

But Al Smith, and the blaring bands, and the raucous choruses of his campaign brought back "The Sidewalks," and taught it to the present generation, and it's still a yuletide song. O'Rourke may no longer trip the light fantastic, "The Sidewalks" still carries with it the spirit of the big town to keep our first municipal melody for a long time to come.

Plaintive Tune

If you sing "The Sidewalks" to an old New Yorker far from home, he is apt to sob into his highball. He will grow a trifle misty-eyed at the strains of "Give My Regards to Broadway" and will keep time jubilantly on the table with his glass to the triumphant peal of "Tammamty," but "The Sidewalks" really breaks him down.

We think a much more nostalgic New York song, and one that we think might well be the civic anthem if it were better known, is called "Take Me Back to New York Town." We wish we could recall the words so that we might sing it to you. Let us see, now, it goes, "Take me back to New York town-own, tah-dah-dah, dah, dah—Well, never mind. It is a grand song."

Then there is another song of Broadway that Mr. Jimmy Durante used to sing in that tight suit over the Winter Garden. It could hardly be a candidate for civic anthem honors, because it is strictly Broadway, yet, as Mr. Durante sang it in his high, clear tenor, the song brought thoughts of home, sweet home to every local Broadwayite within sound of his voice.

The song was called "My Street." If memory serves, the lyrics were written by none other than Mr. Sidney Skelsky, the Hollywood columnist. The last time we saw Mr. Durante, we requested him to sing "My Street" for us, as we wished to have a good, hearty cry, but Mr. Durante could not remember the tune.

Rhapsody Needed

We must get Mr. Paul Whiteman, or Mr. Abe Lyman, to make us up a rhapsody, symphony or whatever you call, of the civic anthem of the United States.

Nearly every city is identified with some song—or has some song identify it, just as you please. If they were strung together, they would make for a long and entertaining evening—especially a long one. Moreover, our symphony could be turned into a neat guessing contest, with the contestants trying to identify the cities and corresponding tunes.

Chicago, of course, is "Chicago—That Toddlin' Town." Los Angeles is "California, Here I Come." San Francisco is in California, too, if anybody asks you. But, musically, that city is "San Francisco Bay." Perhaps this is not the exact title. We mean the song about "When I First Met Kate by the Golden Gate."

Miami is "Miami Shore." New Haven is "Boola-Boola." St. Louis is—do we have to tell you? All right, "St. Louis Blues." San Antonio is "Moonlight on the Alamo." Kansas City is "Kansas City Kitty." Philadelphia is "There's a Quaker Girl in Quaker Town." New Orleans is "Way Down River in New Orleans." Buffalo is "Shuffle Off to Buffalo."

Musie is "On Mobile Bay." Norfolk is that old one of George Cohan's about "In the City of Norfolk, with Its Beantles and War Talk," a rhyming that caused our old friend, Mr. F. P. Adams, to murmur in his sleep for years.

Atlanta's Tune

Atlanta is perhaps "I'm Sitting Pretty in a Pretty Little City," which was tossed off by Mr. Lea Davis, a rhyming that caused our old friend, Mr. F. P. Adams, to murmur in his sleep for years.

We do not wish to get the state songs mixed up with the civic anthems. Indiana's could be "On the Banks of the Wabash," but so could a lot of other Indiana cities.

As a matter of fact, Georgia, Virginia and the Carolines could furnish an evening's course of soothing song without bothering with the other states. We would like to have as a yearly income what the boys of A. S. A. P. draw from their melodious musings on the Carolines alone.

Savannah is "Hard Hearted Hannah." (The Vamp of Savannah.) Charleston is "The Charleston." Fall River is "On the Old Fall River Line." Memphis is "Beale Street Blues."

We think that the song we most generally identify with Honolulu is the song that in music and lyric more clearly reflects the spirit, and life, and personality of its city, and it is not that most nostalgic of songs, "Aloha," which belongs to all Hawaii.

It is that song with the music that sings of soft waves lapping on white shores, and gentle warm winds rippling through the palms, and of moonlight, and flowers, and of brown-skinned beauties, of—well, anyway, it is "On the Beach at Waikiki."

LEVEES HOLD; CREST PASSES MEMPHIS

Memphis, Feb. 9 (INS)—The Mississippi's flood crest rolled past Memphis today with the river standing at a flood stage of 45.36 feet.

Temperatures dropped today and the high winds that whipped great waves against levees up river down the river yesterday had generally subsided today.

Heavily crested bulkheads at low points along the levee system kept the waves from slopping over the dikes.

A 45-mile wind whipped through Evansville, Ind., unrelenting waves, spreading trees and smashing windows, adding to the misery of the flood-stricken city.

WAVES WHIP PADUCAH

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 9 (INS)—W. F. Brier, reported today, "was whipped by angry waves, which endangered relief boats, drove relief workers to cover, and disrupted electrical service. The Ohio river there is at 34.55 feet, a fall of slightly more than two feet from the crest, but rehabilitation is being going forward."

The flood crest may be several days in passing Memphis, Brier said.

Engineers reported "everything was in hand" along the levee system, but were keeping constant watch against levee, sewage and overflow.

The river was reported receding at Hickman, Ky. The Ohio was reported falling at Cairo, where it was grazed, danger now is from sand boils.

Despite the evacuation order, women and children appeared on the levee at Cairo today, either snatching the guards patrolling the levees or emerging from hiding in their homes.

Part of the New Orleans Mississippi was rising at the flood crest moved downstream.

GREATEST DANGER

Arkansas, today, engineers said, is along the Arkansas side of the river where backwaters have already crept as far as 20 miles inland. Arkansas tributaries were receding, and refugees from the least stricken sections were returning to their homes.

Additional workmen also were rushed to levees in Colorado.

Parade, Louisiana, today, when fear was expressed that a break may occur.

Worst Floods in 25 Years Menace Europe

London, Feb. 9 (AP)—The worst floods in a quarter of a century were predicted today as steadily rising waters, stirred by incessant rains, submerged wide sections of England and France.

More heavy rain was forecast in both countries. Swollen rivers drove inhabitants from their homes in lowlands and, in some places, flood tide rose in city streets to the rooftops of dwellings.

Parts of 15 counties in southern England were flooded. Thousands of acres of farming land were inundated and large numbers of householders were forced to flee their homes along stretches of the Thames.

Northern France and Normandy were hardest hit. Lille, Rouen and Harfleur were invaded by floods. The Seine river receded, creating high tide above normal and rose furiously.

The situation was grave at Lille and Arras, where the water was forced to close down.

Execution Hour To Be Kept Secret

Wethersfield, Conn., Feb. 9 (INS)—The hour of execution of Joseph J. McKelvey, New Haven slayer, is to be the first person to be put to death by the electric chair in this state will be kept a secret until shortly before the appointed time.

Police officials yesterday said the time, but it will not be announced until the day of execution. Mr. McKelvey will not be notified until shortly before the appointed time.

Girl Rescued in Lynn Fire

Recovering from a recent operation, Virginia Foster, 13, was one of the 21 persons driven to the street when fire swept through a dwelling on Main street, Lynn. Her father, Courtney Foster, carried her to safety.

BLAZE OUTS 23 IN LYNN

One girl recovering from an operation, was rescued by her father, and 21 other persons were driven to the street early today during a fire in the second duplex house at 44-46 Main street, Lynn.

Students of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, taking special courses at the General Electric Company plant in Lynn, were rescued.

The students aroused occupants of the house after one student had opened a door and only in his pajamas, to sound the alarm.

Carried out to the street by her father, Courtney Foster, was Virginia Foster, 13. The family lives at No. 41 Main street.

Among those driven out were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Carson and their three children, Gerald, 17, Allison, 14, and Lemons, 12, sons of an apartment at No. 41.

Students, who fled to the street after arousing other occupants, included Clifford Griffin, David Benham, Howard Bassett, Wendell Wadsworth, Louis Davis, Richard Young, Robert Fawcett, Thomas Condit, Delmar Kiley, George Lambert, John Mulvey and George Polkman.

And today Gordon Hunt, 20, of 30 Mountaineer road, Woburn, M. I. T. student, and a pair of one feet, following his spirit brother, fled from the house to the fire lot.

Believe Death Natural

Worcester, Feb. 9.—Natural causes were probably responsible for the sudden death of 23-year-old Dr. Marie Palovich, whose body was found on a couch in her office.

Girl Charge Jails Bible Marathoner

Milwaukee, Feb. 9 (INS)—The Rev. F. J. Jennings, 65, of Zion, Ill., was sentenced to six months in the house of correction by Federal Judge F. A. Delger to pay for violation of the Mann Act.

Delger's offense was a trip with Emma Barrett, 16, a Kenosha, Wis., high school student, from Kenosha to east St. Louis, Ill., in 1935.

He had previously described the girl as a "mild-mannered" and had declared he wanted to play with the girl, and had been "solved" of guilt by his congregation and his wife.

Thus the plea of guilty which the six-foot pastor of the Christian assembly at Zion, Ill., today came as a distinct surprise.

Among those driven out were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Carson and their three children, Gerald, 17, Allison, 14, and Lemons, 12, sons of an apartment at No. 41.

Students, who fled to the street after arousing other occupants, included Clifford Griffin, David Benham, Howard Bassett, Wendell Wadsworth, Louis Davis, Richard Young, Robert Fawcett, Thomas Condit, Delmar Kiley, George Lambert, John Mulvey and George Polkman.

And today Gordon Hunt, 20, of 30 Mountaineer road, Woburn, M. I. T. student, and a pair of one feet, following his spirit brother, fled from the house to the fire lot.

SEEK SUSPECT IN GIRL DEATH

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Buffalo Times today said that police had narrowed the search for the slayer of Mary Ellen Babcock, 18, to one man. "Definitely known to have threatened her life."

Official confirmation of the Times story could not be obtained. The newspaper said a detective search for "a dark complexioned man" was reached at an early morning conference of detectives.

The Evening News said a 22-year-old suspect, whose body was scratched was given a lit detector test today.

MATTSON CASE 'BREAK' HINTED

Peabody, N. D., Feb. 9 (INS)—A "dead ringer" for the man who kidnapped and murdered 10-year-old Charles Mattson was to be taken to Grafton, N. D., today, reportedly for questioning by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

The agency with which authorities shrouded their movements resulted in widespread rumors a "break" in the Mattson case is imminent.

Immigration authorities who arrested the man at Noyes, Minn., last Thursday revealed the suspect, who gave his name as Stanislaus Porak, will be taken to Grafton today, but refused to state what disposal would be made of him after his arrival there.

Immigration authorities were extremely reticent concerning their arrest of Stanislaus Porak, immigration agent, did declare.

"It's a dead-ringer for the sketches artists drew from the descriptions obtained of the Mattson kidnaper."

Amelia Tunes Up For Test Flight

Los Angeles, Feb. 9 (INS)—Amelia Earhart's big "Flying Laboratory" airplane was being warmed up today in preparation for a New York test flight, to start before noon.

Miss Earhart and Paul Mantz, her technical adviser, were to make the trip as a preliminary for her proposed "round the world" flight.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth tells how Senators choose a light smoke... considerate of their throats

"I often lunch in the Senate restaurant at the Capitol. Nearly every Senator and Representative there smokes, and the number I see take out a package of Luckies is quite surprising. Perhaps surprising is not the word. Because off and on, ever since 1917, I myself have used Luckies for this sound reason: They really are a light smoke—kind to the throat. It's simply common sense that these Senators and Representatives, whose voices must meet the continuous strain of public speaking, should also need a cigarette that is considerate of their throats... a light smoke."

XX MORE HIGHER-UP RESIGN IN HOSPITAL EXPOSE

TRUSTEES TO BE OSTE; INSIDE STORY OF PROBE

Parol Schube in the post vacated by Dr. Houser.

Announcement of the resignations came almost simultaneously with a visit to the hospital by a group of legislators. Last night a group of representatives also had appeared at the hospital, led by Representative William O'Brien.

Today's visitors from the State House included Joseph L. Murphy, Timothy J. Murphy, Charles Miller, John T. Sullivan, Harry and Patrick Gilbert Jackson, all of the chamber. They made a tour of inspection.

BOTTING UP THE RATS
While the representatives were visiting they watched 15 men, out to work at excavating and carting piles in the rear of the clinical building and throwing in rubbish with a mixture of glass and cement.

Meanwhile, State Auditor Thomas H. Buckley said he will confer with Governor Hurley on the matter of a complete report on conditions at the hospital-in addition to the auditing report.

"These reports may be needed in the event that Frank goes to court, as he has threatened," said the state auditor.

Gov. Hurley, who is expected to meet for today with himself, the trustees, Auditor Buckley, Dr. Norton, the new superintendent, and Acting Attorney-General James J. Donahue to consider plans for the proposed cleanup.

Frank took no part in the questioning of witnesses at last night's meeting, but he made it plain to reporters that he was interested in the work.

"To make a note of the witnesses and, to Frank, I am looking for evidence that anything criminal is brought out there will be prevention."

DEMANDS CLEANUP
Hurley issued the cleanup order at a hectic moment in his office last night and was immediately presented with the proposition of the use to which he gave the order.

C. H. Henry Frank, steward and purchasing agent at the hospital.

The Boston Evening American exclusively obtained from the hospital a letter which was immediately presented to the State House.

Hurley investigated hospital conditions during the last week of the year when press and public were alerted, but last night.

At that time, Frank suddenly went out his hospital, Governor Hurley was outside the hearing room, announcing to newspapermen that he was going to force entirely published in yesterday's Boston Evening American, in advance of the hearing. The employees refused to admit conditions as they described them were in the last exaggerated.

Preparatory to a possible legislative investigation of conditions of the Boston State Hospital in Mattapan, several members of the Legislature went to the hospital today for first hand information. They are shown as they checked bed clothing and mattresses. Left to right: State Representative Charles Miller, Joseph L. Murphy, John E. Troy and Martin Schofield.

Those who testified included Dr. Margaret Simpson, Assistant Surgeon, Dr. George E. Cummings, Miss Mary Alice McMahon, superintendent of nurses, Miss Margaret Shaw, assistant superintendent of nurses, Miss Helen Ausley, dietitian.

Miss Alice N. Cushing, a mother; Miss Jane Lee, supervisor; Robert J. Goggin, head laundryman; Mr. Herbert Tracy, a ward supervisor; Jay Simpson and John Lennon, head supervisors; Dr. Purcell Schube, head of the hospital.

After the adjournment of the hearing Dr. Norton returned to the administration building of the hospital on Morton street, Mattapan, and personally inspected the inventory of state belongings, before Frank's furniture could be removed.

At the window this morning the bed was released and the van delivered.

WRONG BODIES TAKEN
New allegations regarding conditions came to light with disclosure by state officials that undertakers had complained of getting the wrong bodies for burial. The effort of these circumstances on relatives of the deceased inmates was pitiful, it was said. Reports that Dr. Norton would immediately shake up the personnel at the hospital were in circulation today. The superintendent made one change, the housekeeping department but stated there would be no drastic replacements at present.

Dr. Abraham Morrison of 475 Commonwealth avenue, one of the nation's foremost psychiatrists and neurologists, who is in charge of the research laboratory at the Boston State Hospital, wrote the following statement when asked for his views on conditions.

"So far as my personal relations with Dr. May and the board of trustees are concerned, I can only speak in terms of gratitude. Research is the instrument by which disease is finally conquered and Dr. May was responsible for bringing into the world the fine laboratory which I direct, and for bringing to Massachusetts the funds from the Rockefeller Foundation for that work."

"In so far as the present controversy is concerned I have no direct information, nor do I care to take any part in it."

"Probably, undoubtedly, there are very definite departures from the expected and the decent in the care of the sick at the Boston State Hospital."

As a clause providing the courts shall not grant any divorce until the two parties had satisfied the judge there had been neither collusion nor condonation was added by the Commons standing committee to the marriage bill of A. E. Herbert, quoted writer M. E. William Spens, Conservative, in moving the bill, stated:

"This is an attempt to put an end to the present scandals in divorce courts, which are making the law the laughing stock of the whole kingdom."

The bill was sent to Commons for the third reading amid great public interest, which has run particularly high since the article which appeared in the Boston Herald.

Clerk Green Upheld In Fight for Job
The taxpayers' suit in Suffolk court seeking to remove Robert B. "Ray" Green from his $2000 post as clerk of committees for the Boston city council met with an adverse ruling from Judge Stanley E. Qua today.

In the petition it was alleged that the council had no right to elect Green, but that filling the clerk's post was Mayor Manross's prerogative. Green, through Attorney Samuel Riverman, filed a demurrer. Judge Qua sustained it.

Green was chosen on December 28, 1936, after a prolonged struggle by the mayor's opponents to give the job to John Gilmore, Jr., assistant secretary in the mayor's office.

Frankie to inaugurate a cleanup campaign at the hospital today.

A gubernatorial secretary, charged the governor by the secret, led him back into the room and informed him that the chief stewards, who had been quarreled and harranged by Dr. Norton and Buckley, had resigned.

HARMONY UNLIT
The governor's peace revealed during the session, according to time passed, was to demand for conditions in the future from Frank and the trustees and let it go at that.

That real harmony was impossible was shown early this morning.

When Dr. Norton and Leopold M. Gaudin, one of the trustees, engaged in an argument, the argument was on the telephone.

Frankie, it was revealed, had appeared to Gaudin for help in getting his furniture out of the hospital apartment and into a large van, bound for Providence. If Dr. Norton refused to permit the furniture to go until an inventory of state property in the apartment had been made, Early last evening, police were called from Mattapan station to prevent the van from leaving until this had been done.

The hospital superintendent, refusing to make any comment, appeared to be of the belief that the fight against the trustee had been lost for the present at least. He was, however, over the removal of Frank from the hospital.

GOVERNOR ANGERED
In the background of the dispute in the political life of the Governor Hurley and ex-Governor Curry.

On becoming governor, the Boston State Hospital trustees, whom Curry as governor had ousted, Curry had placed their powers in the hands of Dr. David L. Williams, his appointee as commissioner of mental diseases. Dr. Norton is an appointee of Dr. Williams.

During last night's hearing, Governor Hurley displayed anger at Frank while the latter was being questioned for an hour, from 9 to 10 o'clock.

FUND DRIVE VICTORY DINNER TONIGHT

Greater Boston's 1937 Community Fund campaign hit a $100,000-an-hour clip today, with achievement of the goal predicted before deadline tonight.

General Chairman Robert Cutler announced an estimated total of $100,000 achieved as his 15,000 workers redoubled their efforts in a final hour.

Campaign leaders were bent on passing their minimum quota of $100,000 achieved as his 15,000 workers redoubled their efforts in a final hour.

"At tonight's victory dinner, at the Hotel Statler, we hope to announce a sufficient over-subscription to make up for the $100,000 goal," Chairman Cutler said.

"That means we must collect $100,000 in cash or pledges every hour until the drive closes."

"I can be sure, if the workers go out and get the money, we will be successful."

SENATORS ENG ROOSEVELT'S COURT PLAN

row his bill permitting Supreme Court justices to retire on full pay at the age of 70 instead of being forced to resign.

"This sort of Treasury's monkey wrench into the President's plan, does it not?" Sumners was asked.

"You boys get out of here before you get me in a jam," he replied.

He said action on the President's proposal today was confined to concluding the reading of the President's message to Congress.

Sumners, who is known to be to the proposal, permitting the President to appoint six new Supreme Court justices, said the committee would meet again Thursday, but declined to say what would be taken up.

The only material change in Senator Robinson's proposal would be to give the President power to appoint six new justices at once, instead of six at a time.

Justice Brandeis, Van Devanter and McHugh are already 70 while Justice Sutherland is 72 in March and Chief Justice Hughes in April.

The Robinson plan would exclude Justice Brandeis, who is 71 and who was included in the President's plan.

Robinson meanwhile pointed out that the President's plan would include Justice Brandeis, who is 71 and who was included in the President's plan.

DUE TONIGHT

ONE OF THOSE QUANT FOIA TALES with makes the business of sport writing a goodly profession, told mystery writer Homer Randall, the Hollywood producer and playwright, manager of a Negro pugilist named Unwinn Winston. Last week Randall visited Junior Mace Jacobs, the New York boxing maestro and middleman for top bouts, offering a $20,000 written check for a loss Winston sustained at Springfield, Mass. Randall promised to deposit the check to Louis Bardi account and to allow Jacobs to select his own referee. The answer was "No."

[illegible]

Now in case you are one of those persons who do not clutter up their memories with useless trivia, Unknown Winston is very well known in Boston, being the melancholy, rubber-skinned Negro whom Jack Sharkey knocked out twice on the night of November 22, 1915. At the time Sharkey was examining his body from theistic grave and bawling out assorted stunts with an eye to a money match with Joe Louis.

EVER SINCE THAT MEMORABLE EVENING the Boston Garden's janitors and sanitary experts have been spraying lyeol and similar fumigating fluids about the premises to remove lingering garbage smells. But the fight patrons still habitually clump nostrils, twix thumb and forefinger or light tobacco smudges on coming to view more recent fights.

Braddock Reverses Fight Etiquette

THIS ILLUSTRATES THE UPSIDE-DOWNNESS of the heavyweight fight situation, of which, I am mortified to agree, too much has been written already in this pillar of type. Still, it has the same lack of logic and assault to the intelligence that Rip Van Winkle's night among the Catskill elves must have had to the residents of his home town when he returned from his 20 years' sleep in the mountains.

Moreover, H. S. S. and his sons, Tony, Peter, and Steve, have been successful in their business careers. Steve, who is the youngest son of the family, is the owner of the business where he is currently working. He is also a member of the family business, and he is a very successful businessman. He is also a member of the family business, and he is a very successful businessman. He is also a member of the family business, and he is a very successful businessman.

Fuller and Callahan

Real Grudge Fight Due

By JACK CONWAY

After many years around the fight game, I have finally found a grudge bout that is the real McCoy. I refer to the 10-round battle between Andy Callahan of Lawrence and Sammy Fuller of the dear old North End which will be staged at Mechanics Building on Friday night by the Goodwin Club in aid of the Christmas Basket Fund.

MR. BOSTON

The two men have fought each other many times in the past, but this time they are going to fight for a grudge. They have both been in the ring for many years and have both won many fights. This time they are going to fight for a grudge and the winner will be the one who has the grudge.

CALLAHAN-FULLER AT TIVERTON

The high spot in the Callahan-Fuller ring feud took place at Tiverton, R. I., in the summer of 1930. They were lightweights at the time and had engaged in one previous bout which saw Callahan leave the ring a victor.

The Tiverton show was staged for a benefit for the island's summer camps. The two men were both of the light class at the time.

Callahan at the time was managed by Jimmy Doyle, and Phil Burella was his opponent. He went away from that fight with a grudge and a promise to fight Fuller again.

Callahan and Fuller each failed to get a fight at Tiverton, but the two men are at the time provided they do not win their fight last night. It was suggested that the boys exchange their gloves in a fight at the time provided they do not win their fight last night.

Callahan was the winner of the fight at Tiverton, and he was the one who had the grudge.

In a past fight, Fuller was the winner, and he was the one who had the grudge.

"We've been double-crossed," Buckley whispered to Callahan.

In a past fight, Fuller was the winner, and he was the one who had the grudge.

When the fight was over, Fuller was the winner, and he was the one who had the grudge.

"I don't know," he said, and I don't know the man who had the grudge.

RIVALS IN BLOODY BATTLE

There was almost no rest for the two men during the 10 rounds, and they were both of the light class at the time.

When the fight was over, Fuller was the winner, and he was the one who had the grudge.

MARKET FACTOR

Court's STILL POTENT Issue

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW

While the stock market flashed upward following the initial shock of proposed judicial reform there is still a large segment of financial opinion that regards the whole matter as a positive influence on prices.

It is purely coincidental, but in the two weeks from February 15 to March 1, when the reform bill is likely to be returned to the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court will be in recess.

Two possible developments in the federal reform bill are considered. One is that Congress in passing the bill into law will be forced to consider the possibility of a permanent change in the composition of the Supreme Court. The other is that the bill will be amended to provide for the removal of the Supreme Court from the executive branch of government.

This paragraph may be found in the first column of the first page of the Boston Evening Herald. The paragraph is a continuation of the article on the Supreme Court reform bill.
